HISTORICAL AND BIOGRAPHICAL NOTES

Amateur photographers Louise Murphy Putman (1904-1996) and Omar Oliver Putman (1886-1962) spent their married life traveling primarily through Kansas, Missouri and Europe capturing images of the people they encountered and the places they loved. They developed and mounted their own prints in their basement darkroom and entered their work into various photographic contests.

Omar was a postal worker in Raytown, Missouri. He had four daughters with his first wife, Ada Leah Putman (1885-1922), whom he married in 1907. Ada died shortly after their fourth child was born and Omar re-married a woman named Dema L. White (1884-1936) of Phoenix, Arizona on November 28, 1923 in Kansas City. Sadly, Dema also passed away relatively young.

Louise Murphy was born in Kingman, Kansas on August 30, 1904. She attended college at Southwestern College in Winfield, Kansas and graduate school for one year at Northwestern University in Evanston, Illinois. Louise worked as an advertiser and bookkeeper before she met Omar.

Omar and Louise were married sometime in 1940 or 1941. Although neither had any formal photographic training, both were gifted with an artistic eye. The couple loved to capture shapes and light in their photography. They experimented with exposures and papers to create different photographic effects. The Putmans traveled extensively to record their subjects, including to Grand Tetons National Park, Mexico, Germany, France, Denmark and elsewhere in Europe.

The Putmans were also talented portrait photographers and their photographs won innumerable prizes at the Kansas City Camera Club's annual salons. In fact, their photographs have been exhibited not only in Missouri, but also Kansas, Oklahoma and Michigan. They were members of several local and national photography clubs.

Omar retired in August 1956 after 47 years with the U.S. Post Office. He died in 1962 in Raytown, Missouri. Louise married Jesse F. Eder (1898-1983) on November 14, 1964 in Kansas City. She lived to be 92 years old.

Scope and Content

Series I contains 303 prints of 284 distinct images of sites and people of Missouri, Kansas, Wyoming, Europe and Mexico. Portraits of working people, industrial and rural sites, children, dogs and events are the standard subjects the Putmans enjoyed photographing.

Series II contains 541 additional images, primarily by Louise Putman. They are photographic prints and negatives of street scenes, events, agriculture, children, dogs and more. The series includes a few images of Harry S Truman and Bess Truman.

All images have been digitized and are on the Z Drive. They are also on DVD in the Reference Room and online through Missouri Digital Heritage:
